INSTRUMENT RANGES

About; Some of Instruments; there is a difference between writing-note and real-note. for instance:

WOODWINDS; Piccolo(in C) -- like this --

Bass Flute -- like this --
